Haverhill, MA – June 23, 2008 – Adamson Industries Corp, a leading provider of law enforcement vehicle equipment and installation services, today introduced the Cargo Caddy, an economical solution for storing equipment in the rear cargo areas of SUV public safety vehicles. The Cargo Caddy adds more storage space and organizes equipment for public safety SUV fleets.

The Cargo Caddy is made with an automotive-grade, rugged plastic with structural ribs on all surfaces for rigidity and strength, and is accessed with a steel latch handle. It includes a two-drawer storage unit with two removable dividers to keep equipment organized. It accommodates all types of fleet gear and equipment to help keep valuables out of sight. The unit is available in black and is offered in two sizes to fit various SUV models.

“Public safety SUV vehicles need to have a safe and secure place to store guns, ammunition, and other valuables, out of sight,” stated Steve Contarino, Vice President of Adamson Industries. “The Cargo Caddy will increase the space inside an SUV cargo area, and help keep equipment organized and easy to access when it is needed.”
